Archdiocese of Newark

31 Mulberry Street Newark, New Jersey 07102 201|483|8500

Office of the Archbishop

Dear Friends:

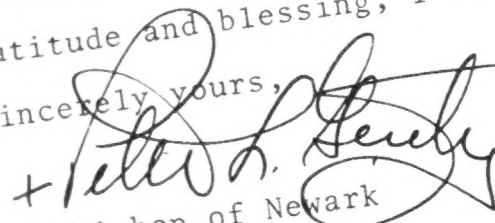

In the present day, the American Society is confronted with problems that basically demand a radical shift in our values. The transition to new patterns of society will create new stresses which will affect family life. The Archdiocese of Newark, through its social service arm, Catholic Community Services, recognizing the signs of the times and alive to the needs of the people continues its commitment to serve others through its multi-service programs in response to youth and family needs. This report reflects more than 41,518 persons served. The growth and successful attempts of Catholic Community Services has been gratifying but there is a need to intensify our efforts to reach the isolated most vulnerable members of the community. The presence of Catholic Community Services among the people goes beyond its most comprehensive agenda of programs and services to a vital role as advocate, convener, catalyst, community organizer and enabler.

Today, Catholic Community Services remains at the cutting edge of our nation's great social commitment. Without the continuing participatory support of the Board of Trustees, without the generous action of volunteers, and without the dedicated commitment of the Catholic Community Services' staff, the Archdiocese of Newark would have a society without a soul.

The work of revitalization continues -- a brotherhood of acts and deeds. Nothing less will suffice.

With my prayers of gratitude and blessing, I am

Sincerely yours,

Archbishop of Newark

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Catholic Community Services is the consolidated agency of the Mount Carmel Guild and Associated Catholic Charities. It has evolved from an organization dealing with essential goods, such as food, clothing and shelter, into today's sophisticated agency responsible for providing a broad range of rehabilitative, clinical, youth and family services.

During the past year there were various areas of major concern in the operation of Catholic Community Services, including the following. We have endeavored to stabilize funding for social services at a time when financial resources were continuing to shrink. There has been a continuation of the implementation of procedures for the effective operation of the agency. And finally, there is on-going development in the reorganization and coordination of social service activities.

Our future plans include an expansion of services in Bergen, Hudson and Union Counties as there are comprehensive services in Essex County at this time. Our plan is that as we add to direct services, we will become more involved with self-help programs. Parish councils and deanery councils will provide the means of expanding grass root projects through participation in the planning process.

The agency's future, and that future is now, includes involvement with advocacy to provide people within communities with better jobs, secure incomes, adequate housing, and good health services. Other social needs include the treatment of alcoholism, especially among our youth where it is more prevalent than the use of drugs; immigration and refugee resettlement services, including housing and a concern for the settling and a new start in life for Vietnamese, Cubans and other refugee families. Many families have already been assisted in resettlement.

The future also includes the removal of an old stereotype so that men as well as women will be able to become active as volunteers for the agency. We must go back and define that which characterized the agency when it began, that is, a strong volunteer service. In recent years, as we moved into so many different fields, the agency necessarily developed a strong professional component, but the need for more active volunteers cannot be underestimated.

This Annual Report is indicative of our efforts which have been limited by available resources. Our hope is to continue to maintain a level of excellence by our service to people in need, from the young to the aged, from the indigent to the middle class worker.

Rev. Msgr. Francis R. LoBianco, Ph.D.

ESSENTIAL MISSION

Motivated by the belief that all people are created in the image of God, Catholic Community Services is organized as a visible witness to the concern of the Roman Catholic Community of the Newark Archdiocese for the needs of all people. This concern reflects the love of God the Father for His people and their love for one another which shall be expressed by the development of systematic and interrelated programs of both direct service and social advocacy with the capacity and flexibility to respond to the broad spectrum of human needs. The nature of this response will have a direct relationship to the severity of unmet needs and the willingness on the part of the public sector to become involved. Just as Christ showed His concern by His words and deeds, we, too, will respond accordingly.
